Court Action Looms On Health Board Budget

UNIT PROTESTS REDUCTIONS IN APPROPRIATIONS

Solicitor Is Instructed To "Immediately Take Necessary Action"

NURSE'S EXPENSE ACCOUNT CHOPPED

Members Have Voluntarily Taken Decreases
In Salaries

Protesting city council's action in what is claimed to have been an unreasonable reduction of its budget for the year, the board of health today announced it will go into court unless adjustment is made.

Instruct Solicitor
Following a special meeting of the board last night, the following announcement was made:

"The city solicitor is requested and instructed to immediately take the necessary court action to compel the city council to make such appropriations as are required by law for the use of the board of health, as requested by the board several times and refused by council."

One of the principal contentions, health board representatives said, was the elimination of $25 monthly for transportation of the nurse, Miss Elizabeth Steer, and the reduction of the sanitary officer's expenses from $25 a month to $12.50.
The health board under the law, members pointed out, makes its own budget and council is required to approve it, within reason.

Take Pay Reduction
All paid members of the board of health staff, the board revealed, have taken the 25 per cent reduction in salary which other city officials and employees have taken under the new economy program this year.

Although council formally passes on the appropriations from city funds for the use of the health board, state law permits the organization to draw up its own budget, within reason, and regulate its own salaries. The pay reductions, consequently, came as a voluntary move on the part of the board, it was pointed out.

The board asserts that the transportation expenses are essential to the efficient operation of the department.

HIT BY TROLLEY PRESIDENT'S CAR

Youth, 13, Is Drowned In River; 4-Year-Old Boy Killed by Auto

EAST LIVERPOOL, April 25—A drowning and two automobile accidents occurring Sunday and Monday in the East Liverpool district today had taken the lives of three persons, two boys and a man.

The victims are:
Former State Senator J. N. Porter, 48, of Kenilworth, W. Va., who died of injuries sustained in an automobile accident Sunday.

Robert Hundley, four, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hundley, Charleston, W. Va., fatally injured when struck by an automobile.

Albert Davis, 13, drowned in the Ohio river near Babbs Island.

Davis was drowned when a skiff in which he and his brother William, 15, were returning from a fishing trip capsized at 9:15 p. m. yesterday. East Liverpool firemen were dragging the river for his body today, continuing a search which started at 1 p. m.

The elder brother was rescued by two youths. They resided at Cleveland ave., East End and are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis.

Child Killed

Robert Hundley who resided with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Hundley, 501 Palissey st., tained when his automobile was Valley Traction company, shortly after noon Sunday.

NATIONS CONFER ON DEBT TOPICS

MacDonald, Herriot Given Roosevelt's Program;
Debts Due June 17

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 25—The far-flung program President Roosevelt has conceived for world disarmament and economic stability was advanced in bolder relief today as the French and American international conversations turned more definitely on British and French requests for war debts settlements.

Having taken up the debts question in purely private discussions with the visiting statesmen—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and former Premier Edouard Herriot of France—the President summoned their advisers and now is driving to a conclusion the American schools for a new order in world affairs as his part of any bargain on that subject.

The complete American program was presented to M. Herriot at the White House last night in a meeting that lasted until midnight and today the French staff of experts took it up for detailed study.

Mr. MacDonald who joined the President in a declaration of "deep satisfaction" over the three days of economic discussions, was invited to return to the White House late today for a last conference on the remaining points at issue.

Everything pointed toward the world economic conference to be held in London for fulfillment of the understandings that are being reached.

The meeting will assemble about the same time next week debt payments are due—June 15. How far Mr. Roosevelt is ready to go on debt relief remains to be seen, but it is apparent he seeks to reach some definite basis now for any action this government may take in that direction.

Kentucky Counties To Oppose Repeal

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 25—Central Kentucky counties will be organized "down to the last precinct" to fight ratification by the state of the prohibition repeal leaders from 13 counties yesterday.
Counties represented were Payette, Woodford, Scott, Owen, Harrison, Bourbon, Clark, Montgomery, Madison, Mercer, Boyle, Jessamine and Garrard.

Hunt Assailant

Police have been searching for all known male acquaintances of 21-year-old Nellie Zinkevich of Cleveland whose body was found in a park the day after she left home to keep a "date."
The girl had been attacked and badly beaten before she was strangled.

STATE TO PROBE TEACHERS' FUND

Holdings of Retirement Unit Under Investigation at Columbus

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, April 25—Investigation of the holdings of the state teachers' retirement fund by a subcommittee of the special legislative schools committee was forecast today.

Reliable reports were that a subcommittee of three would be named to go into the entire financial structure of the system to determine the amount of default bonds held by the fund.

One thing that is reported to have been brought up at a discussion of various members of the committee is whether there should be made supervision over the fund.

Invests $4 Millions

The teachers' retirement fund several months ago was reported to have invested about $4,000,000 in federal municipal and political subdivision bonds.

Whether all of the bonds are redeemable or have been defaulted probably will be determined by the sub-committee.

The committee last night heard a stirring plea by members of the Parent-Teacher Congress of Ohio for a state-wide supported minimum educational program.

The plea was coupled with a threat by one of the speakers to work during the next two years against members of the committee.

Lima Widow Robbed Of Life's Savings

LIMA, April 25—An armed bandit entered the home of a Lima widow last night, robbed her of $1,300, her life's savings, cut telephone wires and ordered her to remain quietly in her bedroom for 20 minutes after he left.

The victim is Mrs. Verna Zimmerman, 43, mother of three children.
Forced to reveal the hiding place of the large sum of money, Mrs. Zimmerman, with the bandit at her heels pressing a revolver to her back, led the way to a cedar chest in a bedroom on the second floor.

The woman offered the bandit jewelry and a small sum of money when he first entered the house but he refused, demanding the hiding place of the larger amount.

Asks Supreme Court To Review Action

COLUMBUS, April 25—The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Bea-case of Robert Parish, of Steubenville, who was awarded a judgment of $20,000 for injuries received when his sled coasted under a traction car.

The common pleas court returned a judgment of $25,000 but the court of appeals held this amount excessive and ordered a remittance of $15,000.

cial session of Allen county grand

Lima meat dealer.

They are: Porter Taylor, "Mac"; Miller, Edgar Westbay and Mrs.
Helen Stukenberg. The four also were indicted for robbery. It was indicated they would fight indictments. The woman is the only one of the quartet having counsel.

The sum of $15 was obtained in the robbery of Shafer.

PORCH SPLINTERED BY POWDER BLAST, HEARD FOR MILES

Explosive Planted at Residence of Austin C.
McNutt; Labor Trouble Is Theory Advanced by Constable R. G. Millen

An aged man, short in stature, who mumbled to himself as he walked, today was being sought by Columbiana authorities as a suspect in a bombing which Monday night caused damage estimated at approximately $1,500 to four Colum-biana homes.

The bomb was exploded under the front porch of the home of Austin C. McNutt, Fairfield ave., at 10:05 p. m., the resulting blast being heard for several miles. Three neighborhood homes on Fairfield ave., occupied by Orrie Simpson, C. B. Householder and Joseph Hollingshead and their families, were also damaged.

The explosion demolished the porch of the McNutt home, knocked plaster and pictures from the walls and broke every window of the dwelling. Constable R. G. Millen reported. Windows in each of the other homes were broken and other minor damage also resulted.

McNutt, reports say, recently was advanced to a job as foreman at the plant.

Awakened By Blast

Mr. and Mrs. McNutt were in bed when the blast occurred. Their first thought, McNutt told Constable Millen, was that the furnace had exploded but, rushing downstairs, they found rooms on the lower floor in a disordered condition from falling plaster and a large crowd was gathering in front of the residence.
The explosion hurled as far as 100 yards away, authorities said. A general search was organized immediately for the bomber.

Investigations late last night by Constable Millen revealed that a grey-haired man, about 5 ft. 4 in. in height, stoop-shouldered, was seen by Jack Logan, Pennsylvania railroad watchman, walking towards Fairfield ave., shortly before the blast occurred. He appeared to be concealing a package under his coat, mumbling unintelligibly as he walked along, Millen said.
The man recrossed the railroad a few minutes after 10 and a short time later, the blast was heard. Logan told the constable. No trace was obtained of him after the explosion occurred.

Windows Are Shattered

Adjacent to the McNutt residence, located at the intersection of and Householder and Simpson homes, situated across the street, suffered minor damage, more than 30 windows in the three dwellings having been broken.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by a black powder bomb placed behind or under a frame post at the McNutt porch.
Pieces of a cardboard box and many short pieces of small wire were found as the only clues to the type of bomb used. A powder odor was prevalent for blocks.

A complete probe into the bombing is planned by village officials today, Mayor J. L. Hum announced.

$25,000 Damage Suit Is Filed In Court

LISBON, April 25—Russell Baughman Wellsville, today filed a $25-000 damage action in common pleas court against the A. & P. Tea company, charging that he was injured severely in an accident near Wellsville July 9, 1931, the mishap involving a car driven by Walter Kountz, an employee at that time of the company.

House, Senate Pass Tennessee Program

Roosevelt program for building a vast development of the Tennessee Valley, around the government's Muscle Shoals properties was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

The final ballot ended several days of debate during which all amendments were barred.

Wampum Left

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 25—I don't know whether this going off the gold is official or not. The French have voted it. They claim we have no right to go off the gold and leave them high and dry on it.

It seems like if you are on the gold every nation in the world is out to get you, they all say "What's the idea of that big bum having gold; say we will figure out a way to bump him off." But this is a time when you got to be ready for anything.

I have got some old Cherokee Indian beads (or wampum) suppose we go off the silver; suppose we go off the paper; Well, look where I will be a setting with my wampum.

OPPORTUNITY

A miraculous transformation of the people's outlook is appearing in many places—if "miraculous" may be applied to a development which uses natural forces to produce supernatural results.Gloom and skepticism have been routed, temporarily at least, by an unexpected spurt on the part of lagging business. Using as a foundation the new animation which asserted itself shortly after President Roosevelt started his program of action, all kinds of economic enterprise have felt and responded to the possibility of inflation.In many cases, of course, there have been no visible results, unless the brightened faces of managers and the more hopeful faces of labor can be classed as visible results.
But in other branches of activity there have been direct reactions.
Wheels have started to turn; men have been called back to work; orders for materials have been placed.This has happened, apparently, as the result of discussing the possibility of direct inflation, which would inaugurate a rising market.
To take advantage of rapidly changing relationships of the dollar to the fixed amount of commodities, buyers have become active. The stimulation thus afforded probably is inflation's only completely dependable economic benefit.The unexpectedly general response of the people to this unspectacular process of stimulating buying by suggesting the strong possibility of rising prices is a remarkable thing. It demonstrates to what extent the country is willing to get behind any idea which promises to lead it to better times.
It shows that abundant hope still exists. The national spirit retains its resiliency.The quickened tempo of public hope presents a potentially fruitful opportunity to a political administration which is devoting every resource of its talents to economic readjustment. The people are in that mood which former President Hoover tried to take advantage of with his many reassuring statements at the beginning of the depression. But facts were stronger; than psychology then. The administration lost prestige when that became obvious to a majority of the people.Perhaps there is occasion again for injection of hope. Perhaps by suggesting inflation, the administration has accomplished inflation's objective—revival.

SCHOOL AID

In considering what action the state assembly should take to formulate a relief plan for relieving distressed school districts, Ohio people should not make the mistake of getting so close to the trees that they lose sight of the woods.There are reasons for withholding unanimous approval of everything that has been done under educational policies of the last few years.
In the process of rapid expansion, money has been allowed to slip through many fingers. Faulty vision and inept management have caused a great deal of waste. Educators have gone chasing after strange gods many times, and always at public expense.But it cannot be demonstrated that the vast system of public schools has developed or has been operated in a manner contrary to public will. The people have demanded education for a constantly increasing school population; they have given the best that educators could produce, under circumstances which left little time for careful planning.For the first time since the constant need for expanding facilities started school levies skyward, there are indications that the school population is beginning to stabilize itself in manageable proportions. Thedays of hectic building programs are over. Enthusiasts hope that there may be more time now for education.But first there is an emergency to be weathered. The economic collapse has caught school systems, both rural and urban, when they were poorly prepared for a shock.
Unable to make sweeping decreases in service, a great many face another year with no prospect of continuing unless aid is made available.
They are willing to put the question to the people. Do Ohio fathers and mothers and taxpayers want the state's school program to continue on a logical basis, or are they willing to let it stagger into another school year with the prospect of almost complete disruption?Governor White requests enactment of a comprehensive legislative program this spring. Against all the reasons for delay be placed this one fact: the state's schools must not be sacrificed to indecision. Legislators must see the trees, but they must be conscious, also, of the woods.

What Others Say

CRICKET ON HEARTH

Down in New York a bass tuba player broke a lease and refused to pay rent because as he said, his apartment was infested with crickets. The insects made so much racket that the musician's wife became ill and nervous and finally the family moved away and left the crickets to their own company on the hearth. But a municipal court justice ruled that it was legally not cricket for the musician to evade obligations of rent-paying merely because the crickets clamored o' nights. In giving judgment in favor of the landlord who had brought suit, the justice made a grandilo-quent speech replete with literary illusions to crickets, their "merry note," their association with domes-ticity. He said it was "singular that a musician should complain about another musician," since poetry and literature hailed the cricket's "chirp chirping stridulation or singing" as music.Incidentally, the plaintiff had said that only three dead crickets had been found in the apartment in question after the exterminators had gone through the place. If the defendant had gotten down to cases, however, he might have convinced the justice that three crickets could cause damage other than to the nerves. This is the spring housecleaning season, and every informed housewife knows that a cricket is even more dangerous when it isn't "singing," since it may be using its "mouth to chew holes in garments." — Detroit Free

Divorce Actions

Forest J. Wilson, defendant in an alimony action filed by his wife, Ida M. Wilson, has been cited to appear before Judge W. F. Lones next Monday, and show cause why he should not be held in contempt. The court ordered Wilson Oct. 18, last, to pay his wife $50 as counsel fees and, in addition, $5 weekly for her support.In the divorce action filed Jan. 6, 1932, by Clara VanTilburg against her husband, Harry VanTilburg, the plaintiff has been granted a decree on the ground that the defendant is a prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary.
Custody of minors has been awarded the plaintiff.The ground of gross neglect of duty was sustained when the divorce action of Jennie Barnes against William F. Barnes was called for trial, and a decree has been granted the plaintiff upon payment of costs.Esta Hubert, 911 N. Ellsworth ave., separated by agreement July 1, 1932.

Hubert is charged with gross neg-

NEW YORK, April 25.—Whatever the ultimate fate of the quixotic adventurer known as Radio City, it's certain its Music Hall and new Roxy theater are financial successes. Unless they veer into storms not visible on the horizon, they will, with a low bow to Walter Lipp-mann, pay out handsomely.It is true that in a world of quick changes Music Hall had to submit to a sudden shift, too. It took the vast Hippodrome 20 years to turn from elaborate extravaganza to movies. But Music Hall, by a nod from Desec Aylesworth, did identically the same thing in three short weeks. That saved it.The two theaters within a brassie shot of each other have proved twin tornadoes in devastating many large cinema cathedrals along Broadway. Almost from opening to closing, they are packed to capacity while most of the others have only a thin trickle through their lobbies.I recall caustic comment of a wag—Will Rogers, I think—following the agonizing opening of Music Hall with all its regimental splendor. "Next week," he cracked, "they should put on 'The Fall of the House of Usher.'" And the jocosity fitted the situation then. But not now.Corduroy is again coming into favor. Even fashionable avenue tailors are exploiting knickers of the material for Long Island wear. Members of the country gentlemen li-terati such as Royal Brown, Ben Ames Williams and Samuel Merwin are donning them. Corduroy is in reality a royal cloth, originally cord du roi especially made for a French monarch.As a member of what Irvin Cobb calls the younger Owl Wagon set in an Ohio town, I formed an aversion for corduroy. Every noonday a corduroy gentleman climbed the stool next to mine for his meal. He was a hostler in a very stable and his corduroy held the odor of the stalls as fragrantly as an enormous goblet of Napoleon brandy that aromatic bouquet.The twin gold-fish, Ethelbert and Gwendolyn, are rounding — and rounding is the fitting term—their second year in a wide flanged brandy glass, exactly the size of those featured at La Perouse and Voin's. Gwendolyn continues fluttering coquette and Ethelbert detached and meditative. All the overtures toward him behind a screen of fern go unnoticed. He takes life entirely too seriously.Insomniacs: Bob Davis usually awakens at 3 a. m. and reads until daylight. . . . Irvin Cobb cannot sleep after 5 a. m. . . . Theodore Dreiser often arises at 2 a. m. and walks for two hours steadily. . . .
Herbert Hoover sleeps two hours and remains awake two hours throughout the night. . . . Al Jolson, an old trouper, can't sleep on railroad trains. . . . Dean Cornwell sleeps best in a rocking chair.The corner above the Palace Theater milling with its not too honest camp followers of Chance is liveliest at 4 in the afternoon when foxy fellows of, the neighborhood peep out to idle along the curbs and suff "after breakfast" smokes. One late afternoon several years ago, passing there, I recognized a former Gallipoli school-mate. He told of vague dealings in theatricals and in Wall Street, mentioning big names casually. Last evening I saw him again, more faded and entirely weaned of disillusion. "I spent ten years around here," he said, "awaiting breaks that finally broke me."It may have nothing to do with longevity, but DeWolf Hopper's favorite lunch is a huge plate of hot soup, preferably vegetable, eaten at the highest possible temperature with two thin slices of toast Melba.Owen Davis, the playwright, comes from a frozen reach of Maine where burials are deferred during the winter. Last December a native passed away and was filed in a root cellar from December until April.
Davis's old neighbor in telling about it said: "When we took him out he was as fresh as a mackerel."Ewing Galloway, whose dog Susie at four years of age is the mother of 11 offspring is changing her name to Edna St. Vincent Millay, because she is so litterary. All of which inspires Lisle Bell, reading across the room, languidly to look up and drawl that for years he has wanted to own a female pig born at the end of Lent so he could name it "Sow-Easter!" No wonder I'm nearly insane.

Fight to Prevent Diphtheria

Our discovery of an anti-toxin for diphtheria and a similar treatment of scarlet fever have gone far towards lowering the death rate of children. No one will deny that with better care of measles, chicken pox and other diseases of childhood, the death rate has been greatly decreased. But now comes the uncomfortable statement that the number of deaths caused by diphtheria in certain localities has increased within the past year.

To what can we attribute this increase? It is because there has been a definite decrease in the number of children receiving the immunization treatment of diphtheria.
This is indeed unfortunate, because diphtheria is a disease that can be prevented.Every child should be given this protection. It is a simple procedure and administered without pain or discomfort. If every child would be immunized from diphtheria when he reached the age of nine months, diphtheria would soon become as rare a disease as smallpox.

Diphtheria "Carriers"

I am confident that if all mothers realized the grave danger of diphtheria they would not hesitate to take immediate steps to protect their children. Of course the children are safe if they are not exposed to the germs of the disease. But when and how that exposure may take place is something we cannot fortell.Diphtheria germs are present everywhere. They grow in contaminated milk. They are found on soiled cups, drinking fountains, pencils, pens, forks, spoons and other objects soiled by persons suffering from this disease.Another danger that we must guard against is that of infection by the so-called diphtheria "carriers." Diphtheria carriers are persons who are perfectly well themselves, but harbor the diphtheria germs.From what I have said, you will agree that it is practically impossible to guard your child from the germs of diphtheria. Unfortunately, it is impossible to determine accurately when these germs are present. But the child can be protected by diphtheria inoculations. It com-fers "immunity," protection against the disease. If the child is exposed to the germs he will not contract the disease if proper immunity has been given.

Injections Are Safe

The injections are safe and no mother should be alarmed about this procedure. The treatment is given in three injections at weekly intervals. Infants may receive it as early as the ninth month.I cannot over-emphasize the importance, the real necessity of taking the inoculations for protection against diphtheria. The decrease in the number of children who receive the immunization treatment may be attributed to the present economic situation. But this is no excuse. If your child has not been immunized against diphtheria, consult with your physician or the local board of health for direction to a free clinic.Your co-operation in this vital public health problem is urgent.
Protect your children and your neighbors' children before it is too late.

CHICAGO IN JUNE

EASY TO LOOK AT 50 YEARS HENCE

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1933 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)CHICAGO—Bright sunshine on the lake, much ozone in the Chicago air. Don't forget that Chicago expects you in June for the great exposition that will celebrate a century of progress.Everything will be ready for you, on time, including the queen of the exposition, now being chosen.This queen will be the most beautiful girl in Chicago, well worth coming 1,000 miles to see even if there were no exposition. She will be no ordinary "bathing suit beauty" queen.In the comprehensive language of this city, she will be expected to "have everything," big, beautiful rolling eyes, a figure that would make Venus dive back into the sea, feeling to compete, wonderful wavy hair, mouth like two small cherries, one above the other, in short, everything "easy to look at."But Chicago tells you "all that will be secondary to charm. Charm is the thing, and the girl with the most of it will wear the crown of our Century of Progress exposition."LEAVING Trenton, N. J., yesterday on the Pennsylvania Broad limited, traveling 900 miles in less than 17 hours on a train perfectly equipped in magnificent, heavy Pullman cars of steel that neither fire nor collision could destroy, on scientifically perfected steel rails, that do not break, and sleeping as soundly as at home, you almost regret that all this finest in the world American railroading must vanish, changing its form completely.The change must come from the steel Pullman car that weighs 180,000 pounds and carries 12 passengers on the average, even fewer in these depression times, to a car of light metal weighing 10,000 pounds, carrying 30 passengers. Going 150 miles an hour from the Atlantic to the Pacific in 20 hours easily will be the new railroad travel.FIFTY years hence this "fast train" will rank in memory with the old British "Fast Mail" drawn by four horses. "Travel on the earth's surface at 150 to 200 miles per hour and through the air for those in a hurry, on long journeys at 500 miles

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPING

SYNOPSIS

Dr. John Wolfe, young and capable assistant of the inefficient old Dr. Montague Threadgold, is shocked at the pollution he finds everywhere in the little town of Navestock. The young doctor's greatest obstacle in trying to better conditions is the bitter resentment of the people themselves. The affable Threadgold appears more interested in humoring his patients and fattening his purse than he is in curing their ills. He cautions Wolfe against using necessary "expensive" medicines which the "ordinary" preparations will do. Wolfe would be tempted to give up if it were not for lovely, young Jess Mascal, whose sincerity and courageous outlook are an incentive to keep fighting. Filled with curiosity as to how Wolfe spends his time, Mrs. Threadgold searches his room and finds a map he has prepared showing Navestock's polluted areas. She informs her husband of what she calls Wolfe's "gross disloyalty and underhand spying" and suggests that her husband either make him discontinue his researches or discharge him. Wolfe is summoned to a case of sunstroke in the "Pardons" fields, the estate of the wealthy Bradens, where he meets beautiful Mrs. Brandon. Her bored, lifeless attitude puzzles him.

CHAPTER TWENTY

The Rev. Robert Flemming was making an infusion of quassia for the benefit of the green fly on his roses, when Jasper Turrell was shown into the rector's study. Flemming, like many country parsons, was a man with a multitude of hobbies, and a friend might find him at work at his carpenter's bench, ankle-deep in shavings, or forking potatoes in his vegetable garden, or busy making trout flies with his big, but dexterous fingers. His study was a long, low, pleasant room, its big French windows looking like painted panels let into the wall, each with its glimpse of sleek grass, flower borders piled high with color, grey old walls, and splendid trees. Pleasant disorder prevailed here. Fishing-rods, butterfly-nets, guns, a bow, and walking-sticks were piled in the corners. The book-shelves held not only books, but collectors' boxes, cork spreaders for setting butterflies and moths, fishing-reels, canvas bags, a hunting crop, and gloves. Disorder prevailed also over the rector's desk. Sermons, florists' catalogues, bills, circulars, pamphlets, fly-books, odd knives, and pipes lay as they pleased. The carpet, that had been worn to no color in particular had a big hole in the center of the floor.

It was the room of a man who led a large, pleasant, placid life, a man who read old books, preached his old sermons, and was an expert in the matter of wild life and of flowers. Turrell found him kneeling on the hearth-rug in front of a fire of chips and broken wood, stewing up his infusion of quassia in a big saucepan. As he knelt his boots showed two worn places at the heels. He had taken off his coat, and the sleeves of his grey flannel shirt were rolled up to his elbows.

"It's not soup."

"That makes it worse. Jovel it's the hottest day this year."

The brewer put his white top-hat on the desk, sat down in an armchair, spread himself, and wiped his forehead. The two patches of color on his face, shaped like the wings of a butterfly, stood out red and injected. His sandy hair looked clammy, his eyelids pink along their edges.

"What's that stuff, Flemming?"

"Quassia."

"Green fly, eh? I can't get my chaps to syringe properly. When I rate 'em, they always say that the glass and the grass take all their time. I've never yet had a man I could trust."

The rector settled the saucepan on the fire, and got up. He was a very big man, grey-haired, slow, and a little sleepy, his massive, fresh-colored face healthy as the face of a boy. His blue eyes moved slowly, and dwelt a long time upon any object they happened to notice, like the eyes of a man who had never been hurried. Grave, pleasant tranquillity possessed his face. Robert Flemming was an aristocrat even in the thick of his hobbies and his old clothes. He had something of the grand manner, a quiet, drowsy graciousness that reflected the calm of a quiet, drowsy life.

"Eighty-three in the shade yesterday."

"It's more today. Nearer ninety. I should imagine."

Jasper Turrell lay back at his ease. For many years he and Robert Flemming had shared in the life of Navestock town. They were fellow-citizens rather than friends, accustomed to meet here, there, and everywhere, to share in the patriarchal government of the place, to administer justice, and to deal with the poor. Robert Flemming was chairman of the Navestock Board of Guardians, and Turrell the people's church-warden at St. Jude's church.

"I hear there was a case of sunstroke at 'Pardons' last week."

"Yes, the man recovered."

"Threadgold's assistant pulled him through."

Turrell stretched out his legs and stared at the toes of his boots.

"We shall have trouble with that young man, Flemming."

"Oh!"

The rector took his coat from a chair and hunched himself into it, wrinking up the cloth across his back.

"What makes you think that?"

"Official young fool."

"I haven't come into touch with him. Besides, he's only an under-strapper."

"Exactly. A question of putting him in his place, or getting Threadgold to shift him, if necessary. We don't want that kind of man in the town, Flemming."

"What annoys you?"

"He's one of those fellows who can't mind their own business, meddlesome and dictatorial. I'm not a man to be dictated to."

The rector nodded.

"Of course not."

Turrell sat up with a jerk, as though his indignation straightened like a bent spring.

"You know the kind of people we are, Flemming; we like to go our own way, and work in our own way. We are independent, shrewd, strong-willed. We don't like being talked to or interfered with. We manage our own affairs in our own fashion, and I'm not accustomed to being yapper at by a puppy."

Flemming picked up a pipe from his desk, and began to fill it from the tobacco jar on the mantelpiece.

"Has Threadgold's youngster been yapping?"

"He has tried it. I'm not the old dog to stand that."

"But what about?"

"The property here. As if I hadn't managed property before he was born. His officiousness doesn't come your way."

Flemming gave one of his sleepy, thoughtful stares.

"No. But you say—?"

"I had to put the fellow in his place. He was beginning to give me instructions."

"Was he, indeed?"

"No sense of humor in the cub. Flemming, no sense of humor."

He broke off with an irritative, rattling laugh, showing his teeth and glaring. Flemming had lit his pipe. He stood on the hearth-rug, feet spread, hands behind his back. His face expressed the heavy surprise of a quiet and placid temperament. He was asked to be angry about something that appeared utterly unimportant. Turrell was hot-tempered, touchy, and vindictive, but the rector saw that Wolfe had angered him pretty seriously.

"I don't see—"

"Confound it, Flemming, supposing some youngster came and told you that you ought to alter your sermons, or have your church re-seated?"

Flemming smiled, his healthy face pleasantly amused.

"I don't think that would bother me."

"You are too good-tempered a man. I'm not; if I see a cub I must kick him. Well, let's leave it at that. I dropped in to ask when you treat to have your summer school treat. You can have one of my fields."

"Thanks."

"Mrs. Turrell will provide the tea, and all that sort of stuff. We shall be away part of August, and I want you to fix the date."

"Supposing I fix the first Wednesday in August?"

"That will suit us. Do you remember last year? By George, what a day it was! Talk about Providence and the weather!"

Robert Flemming puffed steadily at his pipe. He stared at the hole in the carpet with the far-away look of one who has discovered the skull of some old friend.

"Do you care to come and see my roses?"

Turrell acquiesced.

"I wish you would come up some time and convince my man Walker that he's a fool."

Flemming looked quizzically at the bowl of his pipe.

"One of the most difficult things in the world, sir. If a stranger came into the town and asked for 'Mr. Fool,' we should all of us send him next door."

When the brewer had gone, his white top-hat bobbing above the laurel hedge, where the public path ran between St. Jude's churchyard and the rectory garden, Robert Flemming loitered among his roses, cutting off dead blooms and taking some of the choicest flowers between two fingers in or-him to scan them with the quiet delight of an expert. But there was not that pleasant abandonment in his mood that characterized his idle moments among his flowers. He would pause and stare at nothing in particular, sometimes rubbing a leaf between finger and thumb or snipping at the air with his garden-scissors.

It could not be said that Robert Flemming had either love or respect for Jasper Turrell. He was part of Navestock, and as such Flemming had accepted him, and ceased to be piqued by anything the brewer did. People may be classed with poisons, small doses given at frequent intervals producing immunity and no violent reaction. Flemming had come to Navestock as a man of forty. He had lived, and had sunk into it like a big and rattling bed. Outside the walls of his garden Flemming was not much of an observer. He had a mind that took things for granted, kindly, patient, not given to asking questions. Evil existed, and he had long ago accepted it as part of the mystical scheme of life. Death, pain, and poverty were stones strung upon the rosary of his religion. They were facts which he had learned to look at through the golden haze of a mellow mysticism.

Criticism Attitude
Rep. Eliza Limes, (D) of Hardin county, chairman of the schools group, took offense at Mrs. Geron's statement and said he believed she was making a mistake in "making threats to this committee."

Consolidation of one room and smaller high schools will meet the approval of most parents, Mrs. H. J. Cox of Canton told the committee, providing the consolidations were of benefit to education.

Rather than see school doors close, Mrs. Cox asserted she believed she would prefer to "see the doors to her home closed." The mother of five children, Mrs. Cox asserted that every mother in her district was in favor of equal educational opportunities.

Teachers of Stark county, Mrs. Cox said, would not object to an earned income tax even though no exemptions were granted. Salaries of teachers in Stark county have been reduced to a minimum, she asserted, and expenses have been reduced 35 per cent in the past two years.

Oppose Further Reductions
Salaries of instructors, Mrs. Cox said, could not be further reduced unless the legislature wished to take the responsibility of forcing them into "bread lines."

In Stark county, Mrs. Cox said, some of the teachers would be better off if they obtained jobs at the workhouse, for as a matter of fact she said, these men earn $205 more a year than does the average school teacher.

Teachers of Athens county, said T. W. Figley, superintendent of schools, to scan them with the quiet delight of an expert. But there was not that pleasant abandonment in his mood that characterized his idle moments among his flowers. He would pause and stare at nothing in particular, sometimes rubbing a leaf between finger and thumb or snipping at the air with his garden-scissors.

Salem Music Study Club Observes Guest Day In Country Club Program

Two Youngstown musicians, Mrs. Margaret Walters, director of an all women's symphony orchestra, and Mrs. Frank Horne, who is in charge of the choral department of the Youngstown Monday Music club, had part on the program when the Salem Music Study club observed its annual guest day with a luncheon Monday at the Alliance Country club, Alliance.

Mrs. Warren Barr Jr., of Canton, a district president of the Ohio Federation of Music clubs, chairman of the library extension, and past state president of Missouri federation who has also served on the national board, was a special guest.

Bouquets of spring flowers added beauty to the tables, with a motif of green and yellow predominating. Places were arranged for 44 guests.

Talks were given by Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Horne and Miss Walters, and they were presented to the club by Mrs. Frank Stoudt, president, who was in charge.

Mrs. Barr's talk related to the value of music both to the individual and as a community asset. She also gave the club suggestions as to helping promote better music in rural districts.

Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Horne discussed problems and activities of the Youngstown club. All three women complimented the Salem club on its fine organization and accomplishments.

Miss Walters played three beautiful violin solos, "Swan," "Cavatina" and "Oriental" with Mrs. Horne at the piano.

Mrs. Paul Beaver, Leetonia, member of the club, contributed two piano solos, "Prelude" and "Polonaise in C Sharp Minor," both by Chopin.

Arranged by Mrs. Coy In a unique "international" pageant, songs of other countries were sung by a group of members who appeared in costume.

This pageant arranged by Mrs. Forest Coy, member of the program committee, was enthusiastically received and merited the praise given.

Mrs. Coy in presenting this entertainment said "Some form of music is found in every corner of the earth. From pole to pole and around the world to where east meets west the native people, be they savage, semi-civilized or civilized, have some sort of music as an expression of their emotions, of amusement and sometimes of discipline.

"The United States is often called the 'melting pot' of the world. This is extremely true of music. All kinds of fascinating melodies are afloat in the atmosphere of America. They form a genuine democracy, a 'melting pot' of music. Folk melodies from Europe, strains from the countries to the north and south of us mingle with old slave tunes, Indian chants, cowboy ditties and jingles of the dance hall and theaters."

Sing Native Songs Mrs. Calvin Leasure sang two Irish songs, composed by Herman Lehr. She was accompanied by Mrs. Paul Covert.

An Italian street song was sung by Mrs. Richard Fitzpatrick, Columbiana, with Mrs. Elmer Coyle of Columbiana playing the accompaniment.

Miss Isabel Simpson, a Japanese maiden, sang a Japanese Love song, accompanied by her sister, Miss LaVaughn Simpson.

Mrs. Esther Odoran, representing Germany, sang "Ich Liebe Dich" and was accompanied by Mrs. Covert. Mrs. Covert also accompanied Mrs. A. B. Hobson, who sang a Spanish song.

Mrs. Edgar Miller, Columbiana, appearing as a native American or Indian woman, offered two numbers from "The Maid of Niagara" (Cadmian) "The Legend of Niagara" and "Thunder Waters." Mrs. Coyle played the accompaniment.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonsful daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

RACE DRIVERS know tires. It is their business to know tires—it means life or death to them. These men know that a tire that holds all world's records on road and track must be a masterpiece of tire construction. They know it must have superior materials, must be scientifically designed, and must be made by master tire builders. That is why Firestone High Speed Tires are First Choice of race drivers and have been on the winning cars for 13 consecutive years in the 500-mile Indianapolis race—the most gruelling test for any tire.

Road speeds of today are the racing speeds of yesterday. Yet millions of motorists gamble with their lives by using inferior and thin, worn tires on their cars. Guard the safety of yourself and your family with the strongest, safest non-skid tires—made by master tire builders. Have your car completely equipped with a set of these Extra Value tires with the patented construction features of Gum-Dipping and Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies Under the Tread, at prices you may never be able to duplicate. Your dealer will give you a liberal allowance for your old tires. Remember—Your Brakes Can Stop Your Wheels But Your Tires Must Stop Your Car!

INCREASED TIRE MILEAGE with the New Firestone SEALTYTE Leakproof TUBE

The inside of the tube is coated with a special compound which seals against air loss. Constant air pressure is maintained, which increases tire mileage and safety. The tube has a tapered rubber valve which seals the rim valve hole, keeping out moisture and dirt. The rubber valve base is an integral part of the valve stem, built and vulcanized into the tube.

MOTORISTS! Save money NOW! Firestone quality is higher than ever—prices are lower than ever. These tire "war" prices cannot last—equip your car at once and get these great values before prices go up!

There is no reduction in the quality of Firestone Tires. Tremendous savings are made possible by the fact that Firestone owns and controls every step in the building of Firestone Tires and distributes direct to dealers from factories and warehouses—a one-profit, low-expense system.

GREATEST TIRE VALUES EVER OFFERED

White Sox Loom As Powerful Contender For American Title

INDIANS AGAIN BOW TO CHISOX IN CLOSE FRAY

Pale Hose Gain 5-4 Win As Frasier, Heving Out-Hurl Ferrell

FOXX CLOUTS THIRD HOMER OF SEASON

Athletics Capture Battle With Red Sox; Giants Shut Out Robins

Victorious for the third straight time over the Cleveland Indians, Chicago's White Sox today loomed as a powerful contender for American league championship honors.

Simmons, Haas Star

Thanks principally to such hit-smiths as Al Simmons and Mule Haas, the Pale Hose have won eight out of 11 games from the Indians, Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns and are now almost tied with the New York Yankees for first place in the loop. The team is getting great pitching and an ultra-fine brand of defensive play.

Lack of pitching, the experts said, when the season opened, would ruin the Chisox' chances of finishing in the first division. It still may but Manager Lew Fonseca's moundmen have been more than adequate—ask George Peckinpah—and yesterday they made it three in a row over the Peckmen with a 5-4 decision as Vic Frasier and Joe Heving outpitched Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland ace.

Impressive Triumphs

It wasn't any fluke triumph for the Sox—each of the three victories gained over the Indians have been decisive and impressive—the Chicagoans simply proved themselves too tough for the Clevelanders who were ranked as one of the circuit's foremost aggregations. The Sox connected for eight hits including doubles by Hayes and Haas while the tribe was held to seven with not an extra base wallop mixed in.

Meanwhile the Yankees were suffering their second successive defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators, 11-10. Successive doubles by Cleslin, Cronin and Schulte in the eighth gave the Senators the two runs to win.

A's Upset Red Sox

Jimmie Foxx went on a batting spree, clouted his third home run, three doubles and a single and led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 16-10 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Detroit made it three in succession over the Browns, 4-3.

The National League program was restricted to two games, the New York Giants beating Brooklyn, 4-0 and the Phillies nosing out Boston's Braves, 6-5, in 12 innings.

Derby Chances Brightened

Here is the Kentucky-bred bay colt, "Fair Rochester," owned by Lon Jones and Sons, whose chances in the Blue Grass classic, to be run at Churchill Downs on May 6, are considered bright by observers who watched him work out recently. After galloping a mile and a half, "Fair Rochester" turned on steam and stopped a quarter in 0:36 3/4, which the wise ones regard as one of the most impressive performances of the training season.

Bill Cissell Big Help To Cleveland;

INTRODUCING THE INDIANS

Increases Batting Average In 1932

Bill Cissell, who joined the Indians last season just in time to make the Cleveland infield quite a success, got his early training only when he had time to leave his horse. "Chisel," as the boys call him, started in the U. S. Cavalry not only as a horseman but as an infielder. While playing for an army team the Des Moines club of the Western league heard of him, looked him over; then purchased his discharge for $80. Played two seasons with Des Moines. In that time his value jumped considerably, for he was sold to Portland for $13,000.

In 1928 his worth as a ball player again greatly increased when Chicago White Sox paid $75,000 in cash and players valued at $43,000 for his services. In four years as a ball player his value rose from $80 to $123,000 which shows that he must have improved rapidly. In the five years he spent with Chicago, he never quite lived up to his minor league reputation. This was mainly due to the fact that he was badly handled. Bill is inclined to be erratic. While with the Sox, whenever he slumped he was immediately benched. Never was regarded as a regular or assigned to any definite position. Had his worst year at the bat in 1931 when he only hit 220.

However, General Manager Billy Evans of the Indians who for four

Reaching for Crown

As a result of the decisive whipping he administered to Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world, recently, Wesley Ramey (above), of Grand Rapids, Mich., is hailed as the uncrowned king of the lightweight division. The title was not at stake in his fracas with Canzoneri, but they are to clash again, this time with the crown for the victor.

WESTERN TEAMS LOOK POWERFUL IN ASSOCIATION

Minneapolis, St. Paul and Kansas City Setting Speedy Pace

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 25—If their successes during the first swing of the season may be taken as an indication, the western teams of the American Association have the bulge in strength over their eastern rivals.

Westerners In Front

With the eastern trip about cleared up, three western clubs, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Kansas City, today had winning percentages, albeit by small margins. The others, Milwaukee, had attained an even break in 10 games. Only Louisville of the east, had won more games than it had lost and needed a victory over Minneapolis today to hold its edge.

Western teams will play their opening games Thursday and if they do as expected—play better baseball at home than away, may establish themselves firmly in the first four positions before they go abroad again.

Minneapolis and Louisville were scheduled to play the last game of their series today.

Columbus Wins, 7-2

Columbus got good pitching and bunched its hits yesterday to defeat Kansas City, 7 to 2. Lefty Heise was hit back for two doubles and a single in the first inning, but settled down and held the Blues to five hits and no runs thereafter. Frank Gabler held the Red Birds in good shape until the seventh when Columbus clustered hits and scored four runs. Burgess Whitehead's home run with two on was the high spot of the outburst.

Hal Trosky's hitting was the big factor in Toledo's 6 to 5 victory over Milwaukee. He drove in four runs with a home run, triple and single and scored the other two runs himself. Indianapolis took the last game of the series from St. Paul, 3 to 2, scoring the winning run in the eighth of an error.

GIANT MANAGER HURT, OUT OF GAME 4 WEEKS

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 25—A broken right wrist will keep Manager Bill Terry out of the New York Giant lineup for the next three or four weeks.

Terry was struck on the wrist by one of Joe Shaut's pitches in the fifth inning of yesterday's game with Brooklyn and was forced to retire. An x-ray examination revealed a fracture of the ulna bone.

The first baseman's injury strikes a severe blow at the Giants' hopes of putting up a fight for the pennant. Terry's playing chores will be taken over by Sam Leslie, his understudy for several years. Leslie is a good hitter and a fair fielder but Terry's big bat and all-around skill will be badly missed.

College Tourney Next Month to Open Important Season of Golfing In Ohio

By RALPH TEATSORTH

United Press Staff Correspondent

The Ohio Intercollegiate Golf tournament, to be held at Cleveland's Sleepy Hollow club on May 19 and 20, will be the first of Ohio's major golfing events of 1933.

Dayton Defends Title

University of Dayton's team will be the defending champion in this three-year-old golfing tournament. There will be no defending individual because Bill Brandy of Heidelberg college, who won the 1932 title, has been graduated.

The Ohio amateur will be the second big event on Ohio's golf program. A large field of amateurs is expected to swarm over the Springfield Country club course the week of June 19 in quest of the championship won last year by Johnny Florio of Columbus. Florio won out over Bob Servis of Dayton, at Akron Portage last year.

Al Espinosa, the stocky Spanish professional of the Portage club, will defend his Ohio open title on his own course on Aug. 10, 11 and 12. Espinosa won over Denny Shute by one stroke last year. Since then Shute has transferred to Philadelphia and will be ineligible for the 1933 Ohio Open crown, which he has won three times.

Women Clash In July

The Ohio Women's championship will be decided over the Portage course the week of July 19. This title was won in 1932 by Mrs. Larry Nelson of Dayton with Miss Mary K. Browne of Cleveland as runner-up.

Waldo Crowder of Cleveland was the winner of last year's Ohio P. G. A. qualifier.

The defending champion of the Ohio public links tournament is Bill Brandy Akron who also won the intercollegiate trophy.

NEW SOFTBALL RULES ADOPTED

Legal Pitching Delivery Clarified; Will Aid Local Leagues

SOFTBALL fans will be interested to know that their favorite game's popularity has increased with such rapidity that this year a new code of rules has been drafted to be in effect this season. Most of the regulations will be applied to leagues in Salem and of especial importance are those relating to the pitcher.

Salem arbiters and league officials have always had difficulty to determine whether a slasher is serving up tosses legally or otherwise. The new rules, which follow, will give them a definite basis for action. The rules:

"Preliminary to pitching the pitcher shall take his position facing the batsman with both feet in contact with the rubber. In the act of delivering the ball he must keep one foot in contact with the rubber and shall not raise either foot until in the act of delivering the ball. Nor shall he make more than one step in such delivery.

"Pitcher's delivery must be underhand and PARALLEL to the upright position of body. His final arm movement, before delivering the ball, must be a swing of the arm in plane parallel to the natural upright position of the body."

erator and also face a second robbery charge in the holdup of the Charles Thompson "gas" station in Wellsville.

Merill D. Hunter, Akron, faces arraignment on a count of carrying concealed weapons, being arrested in Salem after he is said to have threatened local residents.

Two true bills were returned against five Alliance men who are now in the Ohio penitentiary, serving sentences imposed against them in Carroll county court recently.

They are Alfred Johnson, Lewis Nagy, Emmett Coss, John Cutting and James Dawson, who were indicted for shooting with intent to kill and wound and for the unlawful operation of a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

The men were sentenced by the Carroll court following their capture in a gun battle in which Deputy Sheriff George Hayes was wounded near Kensington four weeks ago.

THEATER Attractions

SATIRICAL, smart and witty, "Our Betters," coming to the State theater Wednesday for a two day showing, is a clever adaptation of W. Somerset Maugham's sophisticated drama by the same name. It is a very effective vehicle for the glamorous Constance Bennett—its star.

Star, Capably Supported
Despite the fact Miss Bennett is said to give one of her very best performances the picture is not entirely hers, when she has gathered such a cast of well known stars to support her.

It includes Anita Louise as her sister, Violet Kemble Cooper, Gilbert Roland, Grant Mitchell, Charles Starrett, Minor Watson and Phoebe Foster.

The lengths to which producers sometimes go to create elaborate settings for stars will be noted in this late film. Miss Bennett's productions have always been distinctive for their rich appointments, brilliant settings and beautiful gowns.

The task of making each successive film keep step with the increasing popularity of the star becomes more and more difficult, due to the current tendency of producers to go to far ends for unusual plots and settings.

Action Occurs In England
The action of this film occurs in the ultra-smart and royal circles of Great Britain with the star portraying the role of Lady Pearl Grayston.

There are many elements in the ballroom and galleries of Buckingham Palace.

As technical adviser the motion picture company engaged Madame Grenier who, it is said, was Queen Mary's personal maid for five years and had charge of her Majesty's wardrobe and jewels. She naturally would be an authority on court etiquette and costumes.

The Story In Brief
The story, briefly tells of a romantic girl with millions who falls in love and marries an English nobleman.

The very day of her marriage she finds he has married her only for her money.

Either she must wear a protective coat of hardness or go through the remainder of her life utterly crushed because the man she thought loved her was thinking only of her wealth.

Having paid for the title of Lady Grayston with heartache and millions of good American dollars she decides to get all she can out of the opportunity presented to her by her title and London social position.

STIRINGLY enacted, brilliantly conceived and directed and telling a most interesting story, "Gabriel Over the White House" concludes its three day run today at the State.

The story is a thrilling one from the first reel to the last—it's pathetic and beautifully done climax.

Huston Is Excellent
Walter Huston triumphs with a great performance as President Jud Hammond and in a series of scenes as realistic as newsreels he forces Congress to give him the role of a dictator, solves the unemployment problem, ends racketeering and brings foreign debts to a close.

Huston has never had a more stirring role and is supported by an excellent cast composed of Karen Morley as the lady of the White House; Franchot Tone, a newcomer to the screen, little Dickie Moore, David Landau, Arthur Bryon, C. Henry Gordon and Jean Parker.

The picture is, of course, imaginary but is very entertaining and most interesting.
